Direcciones Iniciales

La lectura es una Conversación entre el Lector y el Sujeto.
Es importante que ambos participen.

- Se revuelven las cartas tal que algunas queden al revés.
- El Lector reparte un abanico de diez cartas, boca abajo, frente al Sujeto.
- El Sujeto hace una pregunta, de preferencia abierta, y escoge una carta del abanico, que voltea a lo largo.
- El Lector interpreta la carta e invita al Sujeto a participar en la Conversación.
- El proceso se repite tres veces por pregunta. Las cartas interactúan según su valor y palo: una mayor influencia a una menor, y cada palo representa un aspecto del Sujeto.
- Al terminar una pregunta las cartas abiertas se descartan, el Lector invita al Sujeto a hacer otra pregunta, y se repiten los pasos. Se pueden hacer hasta tres preguntas por lectura.
- Al concluir la lectura, el Lector pregunta al Sujeto si desea saber la identidad de la última carta del abanico. Entonces, se puede voltear esta última carta e interpretar su ausencia en la lectura.

Las direcciones interpretaciones de las cartas son sólo sugerencias iniciales, y la interpretación evolucionará conforme el Lector haga lecturas y encuentre nuevas interpretaciones, nuevas reglas.
